SPADEA TO ADDRESS RUTGERS STUDENTS THIS WEDNESDAY

New Brunswick — Former Congressional candidate Bill Spadea (R-Princeton) will address Rutgers students this Wednesday evening at 8:00PM at the Atrium Conference Room at the College Ave Student Center.

"Spadea is an up-and-rising star in the Republican party and he energizes students about getting involved in politics like no one else can," said Joseph McCarthy, President of College Republicans. "Spadea meets and beats the hype."

Spadea is also a former National Chairman of the College Republican National Committee. He has had a presence on the Fox morning news, CNN's Talkback Live, and NBC's Today Show. He currently serves as vice president of Weichert Realtors. His division is responsible for education and career development and helps teach more than ten thousand students each year.

"We're honored to host Bill this Wednesday. While he recently announced he would not run for Congress this year, Bill is precisely what New Jersey needs from its leaders and if anyone is qualified to lead, it is him. This future leader has a clear talent for inspiring young people to get involved in government and that is exactly what College Republicans are trying to do here at Rutgers," said McCarthy.
